A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The United Nations Security Council decided yesterday that Israel and the Arab states had accepted unconditionally its demand for a four-week truce. Count Bernadotte was directed to assume immediately his duties as Mediator in Palestine and fix the time for a cease-fire order to become effective. The decision was made despite reservations by both sides and the assertion by King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan that the Arabs "will never, under any circumstances, accept a Jewish state."

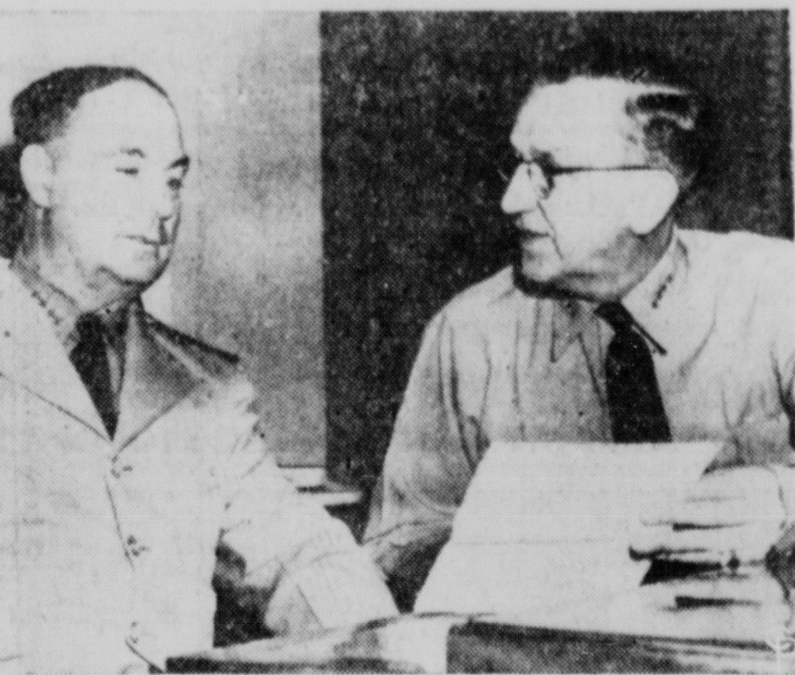

Washington disclosed tentative orders to twenty-one high Army, Navy and Air Force officers to serve as truce observers.

Israeli guns, silent for the most part because Tel Aviv had issued a cease-fire order in the mistaken belief that the United Nations deadline was for a truce and not an answer, resumed fire. The Arabs maintained their attack.

The six-power London conference announced agreement on recommendations for Western Germany. The terms were not made public.

A record peace-time defense budget of $10,246,672,250 was reported in Washington to the House, which immediately approved $6,559,939,000 for the Army and Air Force and

ACQUIT DRIVER OF
BUS IN FATAL CRASHCharles Neavel, Greyhound
Driver, Declared Not Guilty of Negligence

OTHER COURT CASES

DOYLESTOWN, June 3—Charles Neavel, 19 Spring Grove avenue, Parkland, charged with three counts of involuntary manslaughter in connection with a two-car and Greyhound New York to Washington express bus accident on the Lincoln Highway in June 1947, was acquitted Friday afternoon, when President Judge Hiram H. Keller directed a jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

Cpl. R. D. Evans, of the South Langhorne sub-station, of the P. S. P., the first witness for the Commonwealth, testified that three occupants of one car, Patrick J. and Louis Mongillo and Earl Roberts, lost their lives June 24, 1947.

The defendant, whose car was travelling West on the four-lane highway at Parkland, near Sunset avenue, did not take the stand in Friday's trial. The Court, after hearing the evidence offered by the Commonwealth, ruled that it was impossible to sustain a verdict of guilty under the evidence presented.

"Criminal negligence requires a greater degree of negligence than in civil court," Judge Keller ruled. "Out of this unfortunate occurrence three men lost their lives, but the Commonwealth has failed to produce any gross, wanton or deliberate negligence."

Cpl. Evans testified the defendant's car and the express bus were both travelling West, toward Philadelphia, on the highway. The defendant is alleged to have turned to his left, causing the bus to turn left and lurch up in front of the car in which the three men who were killed were riding.

Peter Jackalus, 30, Philadelphia Greyhound bus driver, the first eye witness to take the witness stand, said:

"I noticed the defendant's car parked along the road on my right

CRITICISE DRIVING
AS AID TO SAFETYDual Control Cars Used In Quick Stopping Tests
At Bensalem High

TREVOSÉ PROMOTIONS

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 3 —This week at Bensalem Township high school, the Atlantic Refining Co. will have two dual control cars present for the purpose of testing licensed pupils. Constructive criticisms on their driving will also be given. One of the cars belongs to the company, the other to the school.

In taking the test, one of the students is placed behind the wheel, and the instructor alongside him at the other control. Two or three other students occupy the rear seat to observe. The instructor points out the driving faults to the person driving and in this way hopes to improve their driving in safety.

These instructors are giving detector tests to show the braking time and reaction time of cars and drivers. A student is driving at speeds of 25, 35 or 45 miles per hour. One of the instructors fires a blank cartridge from a .22 revolver and that releases a chalk line at the point the car is traveling. The student at the sound of the detonation hits the brake and another chalk line is formed showing the distance traveled from the time between the two shots giving reaction time. It is pointed out that a driver cannot stop as quickly as he thinks he can.

Promotion exercises for the 9th grade pupils of Trevose school will be held this afternoon at two o'clock. The program will be one of student participation.

President Judge Calvin S. Boyer asked the defendants, separately, if they desired to testify, and from both received negative replies.

Under the rules of court, when no evidence is presented by the defense, the district attorney speaks first, the defense counsel next, and the Commonwealth has opportunity to reply in a rebuttal manner only.

Judge Boyer informed the court that he prefers to charge the jury tomorrow morning, but if the attorneys complete their summations by noon today, Judge Boyer will probably charge the jury this afternoon.

Chief Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo took the stand yesterday in the case of the Commonwealth against Zeitz and Foster.

Russo identified the eight-page typed statement which was admitted as evidence, as the statement signed by Zeitz, Foster and two companions in Philadelphia last December. In it Zeitz admits he drove the car into Bucks County and back to Philadelphia, and that he fired two shots out the window from the driver's seat into the air as he was leaving Feasterville Inn.

Seven persons were shot, one was murdered and nine places were held up by the four accused Philadelphia, according to the statements submitted in evidence in court yesterday, and signed by Zeitz, Foster, Darcy and Capone.

In the order of sequence the statements contain admissions of the following:

"THE VOICE" GOES SOUR

Perusal of the transcript of the State Department's "Voice of America" radio program which was read in the Senate creates wonder that any American, who makes the slightest profession of loyalty to truth and country, could have brought himself to write such misleading trash and drive for broadcast to foreign peoples.

It seems that because of the lack of supervision now revealed, a disgruntled or malicious writer could beam anything that came to his evil mind across the oceans. So long as he spoke a foreign language he was entirely safe until the damage had been done. It was only after the fact that English translations were made of his broadcast.

The anger and resentment displayed in the Senate over the incident are shared by the great mass of Americans. They always have regarded the "Voice" with certain suspicion, mostly because of a natural fear that some of the "smart boys" in Washington would use it to promulgate their peculiar—if that is the term—social and economic ideas.

Congress refused to appropriate funds for the venture until it received State Department assurances that all necessary precautions would be taken to keep the world from getting a distorted picture of life in the United States.

The whole country has been libeled by these broadcasts. Was it for this Congress appropriated $27,000,000 of the taxpayers' money?

NOT MUCH HELP

As though it hadn't enough troubles already, the United Nations is preparing to attack the problem of high prices. Its Economic and Employment Commission reports that it is at the service of any nation confronted by inflation and that it has "international teams" at hand which are competent to render "expert" assistance in case of need.

Judging from the commission's report the advice which suffering countries will receive is not exactly new and, in the case of the United States, even less palatable. Inflation, it is stated, can be fought fundamentally by increasing the production of consumer goods. That is a theory so universally accepted that it is hardly worth mentioning again.

The commission's other suggestions for keeping prices from getting out of bounds include such measures as price control by government, rationing of essential commodities and progressive income taxation.

If that is the best program it has to offer, not many persons in the United States will be looking for its help.

Revolt of Southern Democrats has brought up many questions which have been the subject of political dissension through the years, and on which there has never been agreement. Such as whether you bruise or crush the mint.

GOODWILL GETS A TIGHTER GRIP ON FIRST PLACE

Scoring at will, the Goodwill team strengthened its lead on first place in the Bristol Suburban League, blanking the Lewis Lodge of Elks, 14-0, last evening, on the Third Ward field. It was the firemen's eighth win of the season. They have been beaten but once.

BRISTOL MOOSE WINS

The Moose sent down to defeat the Jefferson A. C. last night by the score of 4 to 1 in a Bristol Softball League game behind the three-hit pitching of C. Deitzler, who was handled in fine fashion by Art Stakes. Monachello pitched good ball for four innings for the Jefferson boys but the heavy bats of S. Masne and G. Mount proved too much for him as each of these boys got 2 for 3.

TULLYTOWN A. C. WINS

TULLYTOWN, June 3 — Tullytown A. C. softball team won its fourth consecutive game last evening on Brennan's field, swamping the Leedom's team, 12-4.

Re-Enlists for European Theatre to Join Family

Hoping that his plan would materialize, an Army and Air Force recruiting sergeant this week used his sales talk to inaugurate a series of transfers to take him overseas to rejoin his family.

While serving in the Canadian Army in the early part of World War II, Albert Young, a native of West Philadelphia, acquired an English bride in London on February 16, 1941. Two years later he transferred into the United States Army and another two and one-half years later returned to the States. His wife, Muriel, and son, Robert, who was born in London in 1942, joined the sergeant shortly afterwards.

Young, then a staff sergeant, started recruiting for the Army and the Air Force in mid-January of 1947, working in the Bristol sector of the Eastern Pennsylvania Dis-

New Generating Station Visited By Kiwanians

PENNDIEL, June 3 — The Philadelphia Electric Company played host to members of Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis Club at its new electric generating station at Southwark on Tuesday evening. The club was taken on an extensive tour by a group of company and station hosts. Prior to the inspection trip, a delectable meal was served.

The Southwark station of the Philadelphia Electric Company is located on the Delaware River at Old Southwark, and is one of seven steam generating stations that are required in addition to Conowingo hydro electric station, to supply the electricity of the needs of the people of the Philadelphia area. The highlights of the trip to Southwark included a visit to the electrical control room, turbine hall, heater bay, boiler control center, coal pulverizer floor, and the transformer yard.

The power produced by Southwark station is sufficient to supply the needs of 1,000,000 homes. The station and related transmission facilities cost approximately $51,000,000, of which the station cost $45,000,000, and the transmission facilities $9,000,000.

Southwark station, they were told, is equipped with the most modern lighting and electrically-operated motors and automatic controls. There is so little arduous labor involved in handling the tremendous quantities of coal, water, and steam that 19 men per shift can operate this gigantic station. Enormous quantities of water — nearly 450,000,000 gallons a day — are circulated through the condensers during the operation of the turbo-generating power units. This water is pumped directly from the Delaware river and is nearly 120,000,000 gallons more than the total daily water requirements supplied by the city of Philadelphia water works to all of its customers.

There will be a joint meeting with the Quakertown club this evening, at the Royal Gardens.

Expect Water in Canal To Run Sometime This Year

NEW HOPE, June 3 — The Delaware Valley Protective Association received word from Senator Edward B. Watson that from present indications there will be water in the Pennsylvania Canal this year.

Plans for the new aqueduct at Point Pleasant have been approved by the Department of Forests and Waters and are now in the hands of the Department of Property and Supplies who will advertise for bids and award the contract within the next few days, after which the work on the aqueduct should start immediately.

"It has been a long hard struggle," the Senator told Mrs. Wilmot C. Arty, president of the association, "but the most difficult part is now behind us and we hope soon to hear that ancient cry, the canal's running!"

It was Senator Watson's bill No. 33 passed last year, which has made this work possible. Due to increased prices of labor and materials, the complete restoration of the canal can not be accomplished during this biennium, but the building of the Point Pleasant aqueduct will at least put water into the canal which will wash away the mud and refuse and make the area more attractive.

The canal cuts a winding path beside the Delaware river from Raubsville to Morrisville. It was completed in 1838 and was used as one of the main outlets from Pennsylvania's anthracite region. In its heyday, around 1860, over 1,000,000 tons were transported by barge over its waters. Late in the 1920's commercial traffic on the canal stopped with the expansion of rail transportation, but up to 1935 there were barge parties, swimming, fishing and boating. In 1935 the Flood put an end to the canal's usefulness when it washed away the aqueduct at Point Pleasant.

Small SUBURBAN House

Equally Well Suited to Construction in either wood, masonry or a composition material, this trim little suburban home has all the

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

Shortage of domestic help, and shortage of time due to the pressure of all that every modern woman must crowd into each twenty-four hours, have combined to steadily increase the popularity of the home that's all on one floor. With the necessity for constant running up and downstairs eliminated, a vast number of precious minutes, and a vast amount of even more precious energy, are salvaged for the busy homemaker every day.

Not so long ago, the all-on-one-floor type of house, usually known as a bungalow, was a nondescript affair, almost invariably built like a square box and thoroughly uninteresting to look at. Today, the great demand for step-saving homes has put architects on their mettle to turn out one-floor dwellings with distinct individuality and character.

No longer do we have bungalow after bungalow monotonously standardized in design and characteristic of no architectural period in the world except, perhaps, the bungalow era.

Now the home owner can have the convenience of one-floor living and at the same time his choice of Early American, modern, or whatever other style he may prefer. He can, moreover, have his one-floor home so built that he may, if he chooses, add a second floor at a later date, perhaps to accommodate a growing family.

Such an adaptable dwelling is the small suburban home pictured, which combines traditional architectural style with an efficiently modern interior plan.

Court Warns of Conduct In Cabins In Bucks County

COYLESTOWN, June 3.—"We will not tolerate this situation in Bucks County. The cabins down there have been abused and the situation must be cleaned up," said Judge Hiram H. Keller in hearing a case in court.

Pleading nolo contendere, Mrs. Mary Stone and Elwood Rahas, charged with adultery, were heard before President Judge Keller.

Mrs. Catherine Rahas, 930 Oakmont st., Phila., testified she and the defendant, Elwood Rahas, were married Sept. 21, 1928.

William Stone, of Phila., testified he and Mary Stone, the defendant, were married June 12, 1937. They were divorced May 24 in a Philadelphia court.

A Globe Detective System detective, Charles C. Verdens, followed the defendants to a cabin in Bensalem township, where the defendants were arrested.

Another investigator, Lawrence C. Sears, corroborated Detective Verdens' testimony.

Constable Jacob Scheese, Woodbourne, testified he made the arrest November 26, 1948.

President Judge Keller fined each of the defendants, Mary Stone and Elwood Rahas, $400 and the costs of prosecution. A prison sentence of not less than six nor more than 18 months was suspended on condition that the fine and costs were paid.

Hold-up at Poplar's Inn, Lincoln Highway, opposite the Langhorne Speedway, on Dec. 9, when between $30 and $40 was stolen in addition to some liquor.

Hold-up at Wolf's Tap Room, Dec. 13, at Elkins Park, Montgomery county, when $60 apiece was divided and one man was shot. In this hold-up Darcy sang through the radio microphone for the patrons before a hold-up order was announced.

Hold-up at a cafe at Woodlyn, Ridley Park township, Delaware county, on Dec. 17, 1947, when $122 in cash was stolen from the cash register in addition to a diamond ring and other jewelry from patrons.

Then followed the two hold-ups and the murder of Kelly and the shooting of two others at the Feasterville Inn and Deacon's Inn, at Pennell on the night of Dec. 22.

Chief County Detective Anthony Russo, of Bristol; Lieut. Hanlon and Sgt. Patrick J. Kennedy, of the Phila. Detective Bureau; Trooper Keith Dane, Cpl. R. D. Evans, of the State Police; George Sauer, State Police detective, stationed in Phila.; and F. Carfagno, State Police detective, all identified the statement signed by the four bandits.

Assistant District Attorney Cur-

jury, an eight-page typewritten document.

Excerpts from statement: "I drove the car, it was mine... Foster had a 32-20 foreign make gun in the Feasterville Inn... I had a 32-caliber gun... I fired several shots.

"Harry Zeit drove the car... As I pulled away I fired two shots (Zeit talking)... I fired the shots because someone said that someone was coming out of the inn... The ammunition was bought by Zeit in a Philadelphia sporting goods store... The guns used in the hold-ups were our own... All four defendants said everything in statement was true... The statement was read to Capone who cannot read."

Gerhart Keller, 22, of South Langhorne, a belated Commonwealth witness, described the Deacon's Inn hold-up this morning. Keller's watch was stolen but the bandits allowed him to keep the only money he had, $3.

Various other statements made by the defendants to Lieut. John J. Hanlon, of Phila. detective bureau, regarding other crimes committed by the defendants, were offered in evidence Wednesday.

Judge Boyer overruled the objection of defense attorneys to admission of five other statements made by defendants.

"They will be admitted only to the extent of fixing the penalty," Judge Boyer ruled.

Lieut. Hanlon identified three guns used in the Feasterville stick-up as weapons taken from the defendants. Zeit used a 32-caliber "H. & R."; Foster used a 32-20 Russo, of Bristol; Lieut. Hanlon and Sgt. Patrick J. Kennedy, of the Phila. Detective Bureau; Trooper Keith Dane, Cpl. R. D. Evans, of the State Police; George Sauer, State Police detective, stationed in Phila.; and F. Carfagno, State Police detective, all identified the statement signed by the four bandits.

Trooper Keith Dane testified that he found 13 spent bullets in Feasterville Inn and the Elizabeth Hoge-land house across from the inn—on a window-sill.

Lieut. George R. Spangler, of Phila., described the spent bullets of the Feasterville escapade, as a ballistics expert. One of the guns was a former U. S. Army weapon with the "U.S.A." initials filed off. A bullet taken from Kelly's body during the autopsy was described as one fired from a 32 Smith & Wesson revolver, the gun used by the defendant Zeit.

SUBURBAN House

Equally Well Suited to Construction in either wood, masonry or a composition material, this trim little suburban home has all the

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

Shortage of domestic help, and shortage of time due to the pressure of all that every modern woman must crowd into each twenty-four hours, have combined to steadily increase the popularity of the home that's all on one floor. With the necessity for constant running up and downstairs eliminated, a vast number of precious minutes, and a vast amount of even more precious energy, are salvaged for the busy homemaker every day.

Not so long ago, the all-on-one-floor type of house, usually known as a bungalow, was a nondescript affair, almost invariably built like a square box and thoroughly uninteresting to look at. Today, the great demand for step-saving homes has put architects on their mettle to turn out one-floor dwellings with distinct individuality and character.

No longer do we have bungalow after bungalow monotonously standardized in design and characteristic of no architectural period in the world except, perhaps, the bungalow era.

Now the home owner can have the convenience of one-floor living and at the same time his choice of Early American, modern, or whatever other style he may prefer. He can, moreover, have his one-floor home so built that he may, if he chooses, add a second floor at a later date, perhaps to accommodate a growing family.

Such an adaptable dwelling is the small suburban home pictured, which combines traditional architectural style with an efficiently modern interior plan.

comfortable homelike quality that goes with the traditional style of architecture. A second floor could readily be added at any time.

Court Warns of Conduct in Cabins in Bucks County

FOYLESTOWN, June 3.—"We will not tolerate this situation in Bucks County. The cabins down there have been abused and the situation must be cleaned up," said Judge Hiram H. Keller in hearing a case in court.

Pleading nolo contendere, Mrs. Mary Stone and Elwood Rahas, charged with adultery, were heard before President Judge Keller.

Mrs. Catherine Rahas, 930 Oakmont st., Phila., testified she and the defendant, Elwood Rahas, were married Sept. 21, 1928.

William Stone, of Phila., testified he and Mary Stone, the defendant, were married June 12, 1937. They were divorced May 24 in a Philadelphia court.

A Globe Detective System detective Charles C. Verdens followed the defendants to a cabin in Bensalem township where the defendants were arrested.

Another investigator, Lawrence C. Sears, corroborated Detective Verdens' testimony.

Constable Jacob Schesche, Woodbourne, testified he made the arrest November 26, 1948.

President Judge Keller fined each of the defendants, Mary Stone and Elwood Rahas, $400 and the costs to prosecution. A prison sentence of not less than six nor more than 18 months was suspended on condition that the fine and costs were paid.

LEGION JUNIOR IX WILL OPEN SEASON SATURDAY, JUNE 5

The American Legion Junior baseball nine opens its Bucks County League schedule Saturday afternoon, meeting the Perkase Junior Legion team, on the Third Ward field. Starting time is listed for 2:30 o'clock.

Manager Vito Della has nominated "Dick" Harmon, former Bristol High hurler, to do the mound work with "Lou" Loeffler behind the plate. Harmon helped hurl Bristol High to the Lower Bucks County championship and during the season pitched a no-hit game against Bensalem.

Manager Della is confident that the Bristol team will make a fine showing in the Bucks County circuit, even surpassing the showing made last season when the locals finished third, losing out in the last week of the schedule.

The local team has a selection of players from Bristol, Bristol Township, and Fallsington.

The players picked by Della to represent the Robert W. Bracken Post are: "Bill" MacSherry, Harmon, "Johnny" Pindar, Harry Eisenbrey, Harry Saul, Joe Dominick, "Bill" Moll, Marty Kraam, Joe Schriber, Peter Rubino, Dave Muth, James Morrell, Charles Saunders, Billy Hibbs, Loeffler, Joe McHugh, Ray Gallagher, and Billy Ennis.

In addition to Harmon, Rubino and Muth are also moundmen while if necessary, Harry Eisenbrey can also fill them.

The resident team will play at Newtown next Wednesday evening and return to the Third Ward field on Monday, June 14th, to play Quakertown.

All the home games of the Legion team will be played on the Third Ward field, Bristol Pike and Otter Street.

PALUMBO'S HOME RUN AIDS TEAM TO TIE THE GAME

"Babbi" Palumbo's second home run of the season enabled the St. Ann's A. A. team to tie the Hibernians last evening on Memorial Park field. Final score was: St. Ann's, 5; Hibernians, 5.

The "Saints" had to fight an uphill battle to deadlock the score as the Hibs played like champions and outplayed the Wood streeters from start to finish.

The best plays of the game were on the side of the Hibs, Joe Dolan pulling the fielding game in the eighth when he raced with his back to the infield to catch a short fly to left by Clark.

St. Ann's was trailing 5-4 at the start of the ninth inning when Coates struck out Paul Cervellero. After taking a strike, Palumbo cracked a liner along the left field foul line. Frank Elker made a futile attempt to make a diving stop of the ball but it got away from him and Palumbo's speed carried him around the bags for a circuit clout.

"Bill" Coates hurried good ball for the losers and it wasn't until the late innings that the St. Ann's batters got to his curves. He struck out seven batters, Palumbo and Bert Barbetta had three hits each for the St. Ann's team.

The Hibs made nine hits in the tilt and took advantage of "Pete" Rubino's wildness to take a 4-1 lead which they held until the eighth inning. Cervellero relieved Rubino in the second.
